Write about 100 to 150 words in the following topic: What do you think of the fans' attitude to the famous people? Discuss.

Once in a while we see enthusiastic fans on television who are desperately waiting for their idols to appear. Whether in football training sessions, in concerts, airports, film premieres and suchlike, fans seem ready to do anything for their favourite stars.

In my opinion, I regard this attitude as exaggerated and I think this is an overreaction of their feelings for their idols. I personally do not like seeing teenagers crying over famous people who they have not even met and who may even not be worth of their affection. I understand the fact that fans have a strong admiration for their idols but I do not share their frenzied adoration.
